

Voices in My Head
by Andrew Cliatt, Ethan Kohring, Alex Bravos, and Isiah Lopez Millikin University

May 7, 2018

Voices in My Head

the stars in the snow illuminating
the distance between them

ac

as the earth sleeps
the flame of life
flickers

ab

the world is still turning

ek

it's cold as fuck
i don't like snow
i wanna go home

il

the crescent moon
a reminder of all the missing pieces

ac

the snow fades away
and the moon
becomes whole

ek

•

and as distance diminishes their hearts
beat faster

ac

a purple light shining
in the distance

il

Thanos and his power stone too powerful for mankind

ek

searching for strength why even bother

ab

the wind blows
harder and harder
i lean into it

ac

thump. thump.
the rabbits wake up.

il

•

the moon peaks out from behind the cloud a familiar face at last

ac

i sit quietly in the corner please come back.

ab

the weather makes music as raindrops
hit the roof

il

the roar of the fire
keeps me inside

ac

the tree trying so hard to create beauty that is ultimately destroyed

ek

swish. swish. swish.
and his dreams are crushed.

il

•

pestle and mortar.
a neat idea,
never used

ab

searching for something new always going back to the old

ac

a shallow pond
wraps its arms around the boy

il

a mother, still searching calling out

ek

the fawn cries out the wind responds silently

ac

chasing the night
only finding shadows

ab

•

darkness calls
but light
will always prevail

il

shooting for the stars
but landing in the mud

ac

sitting in the shower am i still crying
or am i just wet

ek

inside the darkness
hand in hand

ac

whispers surround me i look to the moon
but hear no words

ab

voices in my head
friend or foe

il

•

a new thought
but is it mine
or theirs

ac

laying my head down i remember everything left to do

il

the final day
how to say goodbye to mom

ab

emptiness.
why can't i feel.

ek

the flowers at her feet a reminder that life
still lives

ac

a promise to myself that they will always live on

il

• • •

ac = Andrew Cliatt
ek = Ethan Kohring
ab = Alex Bravos
il = Isiah Lopez