Manicured Toes

summer is here
humidity lingers
at my door

ld

invite everyone over
bonfire at my house

kf

lawn chairs surrounding the pond
fishing

mw

tugging on my line
pulling me in

kg

moonbeams glowing
on the water
setting the mood

ld

perfect night
surrounded by friends

kf

ice cream after
a long
hot day

mw

dripping off
my cone

dipped cone
after a dip
in the pool

ld

walking in the park
a mother pushes
her baby

kf

beautiful trees
green scene

mw

bushy trees
just like
your eyebrows

his truck bed
admiring the moon

ld

laying on the
blanket and
his chest

kf

playing with my hair
i fall asleep

fuzzy socks
save my
frozen toes

flowered flip flops
resemble cherry blossoms

ld

her manicured toes
catch my
eye

kf

sparkling grape juice
reflecting your smile

mw

your eyes
catch mine
across the bar

fried from the sun
like french fries

ld

he buys the
next round
kind gesture

kf

shooting clay pigeons
with dad

mw

the sunsets
behind our picnic

kg

apples, oranges, bananas
colors of nature

ld

the sky so blue
making the clouds
stand out

kf

summer breeze
life is good

mw

she rolls
down her window
to enjoy the air

night time air
creeps in my window

ld

the room so silent
cricket chirping
by my screen

kf

counting sheep
to get to sleep

mw

i dream
about us
and what used to be

kg

my pillow so soft
like your cheeks

ld

head on his chest
heart beating
in my ear

kf

she smells so sweet
cherry blossom

mw

the sweet
smell
of summertime
