

Friends Haiku: A Sequence
by Ariya Hawkins and friends, Millikin University May 1, 2018

Friends Haiku!

he sits in the chair
time passes
he remains a glaze Dannika Beedle

bold an calm.
living with weights.
on top of the world
Zach Thompson

left and right
the black fan
blows our collective sweat Ariya Hawkins

you really make me mad,
I don't get why it's this way,
I dislike my phone.
Stephanie Brown

flowing without the air.
stationary without a gift.
left with too much history Zach Thompson

humid dorm room
blue bed spread
filled with friends
Ariya Hawkins

white cream
golden outlayer
twinkie
Dannika Beedle

spicy and cheesy
quesorito please me
yum in my tum tum Stephanie Brown

heat in proximity
cool in the open
nights spent together
Justin Wake

open the door
eyes fall
to the giant sloth Ariya Hawkins

a hollow heart
i desperately wait
graduation will never come Dannika Beedle

transition in the year.
a fork in the road.
a time to pass the time.
Zach Thompson

winter, a cold beast
yet, gentle
covering the ground
Dannika Beedle

Eugene on the bed
tan and brown fluffy and sound big thick happy and round Stephanie Brown

pink petals fall
Somei Yoshino
Japan
Dannika Beedle

yellow and green.
the child runs in the meadow weather only enjoyed by bugs Zach Thompson

acting without abandon affirming the accident
asking for action
Justin Wake

flowers, dew on the grass worms, things in bloom, sneezing too
I do love pickles
Stephanie Brown

a place plastered in color color you can feel feelings that change like water Justin Wake

• • •