A Lullaby

Authors
© date

late night
we sneak to the train tracks no one will see CS

making a shadow
a crow
PD

running from freedom
holding hands
OG

the sun rises
from behind a mountain SM

the runaways searching the night sky for answers praying they won't get caught DM

singing a lullaby
their mother once sang KG

remembering her heavenly voice while they sit in hell

cold fire
the devil in the shadow

SM

hide his face
can't stand
the lies

turning back
where he thought he wouldn't

PD

old thoughts
dance around the fire pit

the spark batted
out of her hair

RMB

the moon trembles
as the giants
stomp the ground

goblin duck,
in fear of getting crushed

PD

sprint to safety
time
tick, tick, tick

OG

an explosion
from her core

SM

his African violet
laid to rest
omega, omega

DM

The mother
left behind
